

CogLing Days 2022 - Posters

Author(s)	Title
PraiseGod Aminu	DISCOURSE-STYLISTIC FEATURES IN ODUDUWA SECESSIONISTS' SOCIAL MEDIA CAMPAIGN
Marie Barking, Maria Mos & Ad Backus	Agency and Automaticity in Language Transfer
Ewa Bogdanowska-Jakubowska & Nika Bogdanowska	FAMILY metaphors in Polish right-wing political discourse
Kalle Glauch	Influence of Cue Based Lexical Access on Conceptual Subject-Verb Number Agreement with Collective Nouns in German
Irmak Hacimusaoğlu & Neil Cohn	Linguistic Typology of Motion Events in Comics
Thomas Hoelbeek	Italian posture verbs: a satellite-framed phenomenon?
Anna Jessen & Robert Hartsuiker	Bursting into creativity – the productivity of the Spanish inchoative construction in corpus and elicited production
Bien Klomberg, Klavdiia Fadeeva, Joost Schilperoord & Neil Cohn	The Costs and Composition of Discontinuity in Visual Narratives
Bien Klomberg, Irmak Hacimusaoğlu & Neil Cohn	Running through the Who, Where, and When: A Cross-cultural Analysis of Situational Changes in Comics
Vince Liégeois	Inter-individual variation and cognitive linguistics. A corpus-based analysis of formulation patterns in audiovisual German weather forecasts
Zhengguang Liu & Ziyang Zhang	Converging evidence for time-space conflation in Mandarin Chinese
Bruno Neves Rati de Melo Rocha & Átila Augusto Soares Vital	Disfluencies in the spontaneous speech of Brazilian schizophrenic patients: a preliminary corpus-based study
Joske Piepers, Ad Backus & Jos Swanenberg	Entrenchment, salience, attitudes, and norms: Variation in the reported use of a personal pronoun
Manana Rusieshvili & Mariam Keburia	Metaphorical Conceptualization of the concept of Bravery in the context of War in Ukraine
Cesar Telo & Abashidze Dato	Individual differences in using eye gaze cues when learning novel L2 morphosyntactic patterns: An eye-tracking study
Anais Vajnovszki	How metaphor creates new shell nouns: coercion mechanisms of non-prototypical French shell nouns in a genre-diversified corpus
Phillip Wadley, Thora Tenbrink & Alan Wallington	Decoding the abstract: a descriptive investigation into concreteness effects and attribution scope in metaphor interpretation
Elvina Yuliana Budiono & Jan Engelen	“We finish each other’s... sandwiches?” Investigating the relationship between linguistic prediction accuracy and closeness in romantic relationships